Introduction	With over 20 years of experience in brand development, advertising, corporate communications, and retail marketing, I bring multiple dimensions to creative problem solving. My passion is getting crystal clear about project objectives and translating those into strategies and compelling ideas that inspire action. I'm a collaborator and quickly build trust and forge effective teams – across departments, disciplines and across geographic distance. I empower the people I work with to be their very best and love to see the team challenged and unleashed to do out-of-the-box work with measurable results. I'm looking for a Creative Director or Design Director position – either agency-based or with an in-house communications team – where I can continue leading teams to do inspiring and effective work.
